Historical.

THE first Tournament of Roses was held on New Year's Day, 1889, under the management of the Valley Hunt Club of Pasadena, California.

It consisted of a parade of decorated carriages and saddle horses around a temporary half-mile track, not far from the center of the city, followed by sports and games of various character, including an exhibition of old-time Spanish equestrian feats. The event was a successful one and each succeeding New Year's Day brought a Tournament of Roses enlarged and improved. The parade of decorated vehicles stretched along the streets for a mile or more, and included every variety and style of equipage that ingenuity and taste could devise, ranging from the stately and imposing six-in-hand coach to the curious, single, two-wheeled burro cart.

The events at the Park were participated in by the best horses and amateur sportsmen in the country around. Prizes of no mean quality were contested for. Games and feats of strength and skill were held, and many curious and entertaining sports were devised for the amusement of the people who gathered to witness them, and picnic under the live oaks.

An abundance of fruit, including strawberries and water melons were
